

A watercolor illustration on a textured, light beige background. On the right, a person's ear is shown in profile, with a hand cupping it from behind. The ear is rendered with soft watercolor washes and fine black lines for detail. On the left, a vibrant green hummingbird with a red beak is depicted in flight, its wings spread. A large, dark blue circular frame overlaps the hummingbird and the text. Inside the circle, the German phrase "Mein offenes Ohr für dich." is written in a dark blue, cursive script. The overall style is artistic and expressive, using watercolor and fine line work.
