

Ph.D. Cristina Crespo Soler
Head of Quality University Extension Service, University of Valencia

Degree in Economic and Managerial Sciences, 1992. Ph.D in Economics and Business, University of Valencia, Spain, 2002.

Lecturer of the Accounting Department of the University of Valencia, with more than 18 years teaching in Cost accounting - Management and Directive. Several papers published in national and international congresses, producing publications both in journals and ledgers.

Since 1993, her research focuses on management accountability and the environment. Member of professional societies: Spanish

Association of Accounting and Administration (AECA), Centre for Social and Environmental Accounting Research (CSEAR). Participation in various research projects with public and private institutions in the industrial and service sectors. Member of Valencian Research Team Strategic Cost Management (IMACCEv), Research Line "Contributions of the Management Accounting in Strategic Cost Management." Head of Quality University Extension Service, University of Valencia.