

Professor Carmel Borg, Ph.D University of Malta

Prof. Carmel Borg lectures in Curriculum Studies, Critical Pedagogy, and Community and Adult Education within the Faculty of Education, University of Malta. He has written, presented and published extensively, in several languages, around the foregoing issues. Prof. Borg promotes education as a liberating experience and challenges technologies of oppression within education systems. He has a long-standing involvement in curriculum development at all levels of the education process, locally, nationally and internationally. Prof. Borg is the editor of the Malta Review of Education Research (MRER) and is associate editor of several other peer-reviewed, international journals.