

Ing. Lucia Hrebeňárová, PhD.
Institute of Continuing Education, University of Žilina, SK

Ing. Lucia Hrebeňárová, PhD. has been the Director of the Institute of Continuing Education at the University of Žilina in Slovakia since 2006. She has a background in the marketing of Continuing Education; since 2000 she has been working in the field of University Continuing Education in organisational and programme development and the development of projects and their implementation. Focus of current areas of activity: development of innovative LLL programmes for and in cooperation with various partners of the university, building new partnerships and networks at regional and national level, policy development in LLL within the university and at national level; national and EU Projects.