

OFF THE RECORD: A PHD EVENT SERIES

This four part series addresses the questions that often stay unspoken during the doctoral journey: navigating research challenges, publishing, the path after the defense, funding, etc... Each session features invited guests who will share their experiences, insights, and practical advice, followed by an open discussion.

Whether you are at the beginning of your PhD or approaching submission, these events offer space for honest exchange, critical reflection, and collective support. Join us in building a stronger PhD community - one conversation and one event at a time!
