

Joint Master's Programme in Translation (Slovene, German, English) Call for applications 2024 for the University of Graz as entrance university

Well qualified translators and intercultural communication experts are in high demand. As a graduate of the Joint Master's Programme in Translation (Slovene, German, English) you will be well placed in international institutions and organisations, multinational companies, and in audiovisual and literary translation. You also have the opportunity to pursue further studies at doctoral level upon successful completion of the Master's programme.

Application deadline: June 30, 2024 (23:59 CEST)

jointdegrees@uni-graz.at

<https://www.jointdegree.eu/en/translation>

You will enter your career path with the following skills and competences in the fields of language, culture and translation:

transcultural competences thematic competences advanced communicative skills sociolinguistic awareness methodological competences strategic competences

Participating Universities: University of Graz (Austria) and University of Ljubljana (Slovenia)

Programme Outline:
4 semesters full time (120 ECTS)
1 mandatory mobility semester (30 ECTS)