

Round Table ClimLaw: The Role of Indigenous peoples in the Climate Regime

Organised by the Research Centre for Climate Law (ClimLaw: Graz)

Wednesday, 28 January 2026

13:00-14:15

SR 15.34 RESOWI Part D, 3rd Floor

Universitätsstraße 15, University of Graz, 8010, Graz

Speaker: Nicolas Alberto Ojeda Zavala

Nicolas holds a PhD in Law from the University of Edinburgh, United Kingdom and an LLM from the University of Vienna. He is a Law Professor at the Universidad Autónoma de Chile and the Director of the Chile Centre of the International Ocean Institute. In his presentation, he will address the role of Indigenous peoples in climate adaptation and mitigation, in the light of the Paris Agreement and recent advisory opinions from international courts.

To register to attend the event:

E-Mail: cimlaw@uni-graz.at with the subject: Roundtable

Registration closes on Tuesday, 27 January 2026

There are limited seats available so be sure to reserve yours!

UNIVERSITY OF GRAZ

Research Center for Climate Law
(ClimLaw: Graz)

