PEERING INSIDE A POT

Compositional Analyses of Late Antique and Early Medieval Ceramics in the Southeastern Alps

This lecture examines enigmatic transition from Late Antiquity to Early Middle Ages in the southeastern Alpine region from the perspective of ceramic technology. It presents the results of a variety of analyses (optical microscopy, XRPD, FTIR, micro CT, and SEM) conducted on coarseware pottery drawn from more than twenty sites across Styria and Carniola. The mineralogical composition and structure of the ceramic fabrics are then used to infer technological choices, particularly in terms of tempering and firing conditions.
