

VI) Interdisciplinary Transfer II: Legal concepts

Chair: Christian Hiebaum (Department of Legal Philosophy, Sociology of Law, and Legal Informatics)

14:50-15:40

ANNE-KATHRIN REULECKE (University of Graz)

Vom Sinn zur Spur. Autographen-Fälschungen auf der Grenze
zwischen Philologie und Kriminalistik

15:40-16:00 Coffee Break

16:00-16:50

THOMAS WEITIN (University of Konstanz)

Free Ground. Human dignity after Goethe's "Faust"

Concept and Organisation

Susanne Knaller (Centre for Cultural Studies / Department of Romance Languages)

Doris Pichler (Department of Romance Languages)

Christian Hiebaum (Department of Legal Philosophy, Sociology of Law, and Legal Informatics)

Contact and Information

regina.brunnhofner@uni-graz.at; T +43 (0)316-380-8089

Law and Literature

Possibilities and Boundaries of Inter- and Transdisciplinarity

International Symposium

University of Graz, Wall Zentrum, Merangasse 70, Mehrzwecksaal (Ground Floor)

November 29 & 30, 2013

Literary studies as an intrinsically interdisciplinary field of study have been a referential science for other disciplines for quite some time. A number of aesthetic but also non-aesthetic disciplines have referred to literature and literary theory in order to open up new perspectives on their own disciplines and theoretical and methodological approaches. At the same time, literary studies have been increasingly interested in determining their own position and potential within the wider scientific community. This is the precondition for the appearance of an unprecedented number of interdisciplinary approaches over the last decades visible in several fields of research that essentially consist of two disciplines connected with the conjunction "and": literature and medicine, literature and science, literature and history, literature and economics and law and literature. The intersection of law and literature, as well as legal and literary studies, is on this account a particularly dynamic field of research on many levels. The focus of this symposium are thus theoretical reflections aimed at investigating the possibilities of inter- and transdisciplinary transfer of discipline-specific concepts and methods.

Graz Research Colloquia on General and Comparative Literature

Centre for Cultural Studies

Research Department General and Comparative Literature (AVL)

Department of Legal Philosophy, Sociology of Law, and Legal Informatics

Department of Romance Languages

PROGRAMME

FRIDAY, 29th of Nov.

9:00-10:00

Welcome by the Organizers

SUSANNE KNALLER/DORIS PICHLER (Centre for Cultural Studies / Department of Romance Languages)

CHRISTIAN HIEBAUM (Department of Legal Philosophy, Sociology of Law, and Legal Informatics)

Conference Opening

MARTIN POLASCHEK (Vice-Rector for Studies and Teaching University of Graz)

DORIS PICHLER (University of Graz)

Law and Literature: A Successful Interdisciplinary Encounter?

10:00-10:15: Coffee Break

I) Interdisciplinary Encounters I

Chair: Susanne Knaller

10:15-11:05

GRETA OLSON (University of Gießen)

Futures of Law and Literature - A Culturalist Perspective

11:05-11:55

JEANNE GAAKEER (Erasmus University Rotterdam)

Futures of Law and Literature – A Jurist's Perspective

11:55-12:10: Coffee Break

II) Law as Literature / Literature as Law

Chair: Doris Pichler

12:10-13:00

PETER STRASSER (University of Graz)

“The Good, the Bad and the Ugly”. Krimi und Western als Schule des Rechtsempfindens

13:00-14:30 Lunch

14:30-15:20

ELKE LACKNER (University of Graz)

Performanz und Fiktionalisierung von Recht. Die Hinrichtung als rechtliches, kulturelles und literarisches Ereignis

15:20-15:40 Coffee Break

III) Interdisciplinary Encounters II

Chair: Andrea Ploder

15:40-16:30

PETER SCHNECK (University of Osnabrück)

Paradoxical Properties and Perverse Relations: Law and Literature between the Disciplines

16:30-17:20

DANIELA CARPI (University of Verona)

Law and...

SATURDAY, 30th of Nov.

IV) Between Law and Literature

Chair: Anita Prettenthaler-Ziegerhofer

9:00-09:50

CHRISTIAN HIEBAUM (University of Graz)

Literatur, die verpflichtet. Zur Theorie des Rechtstextes und der juristischen Interpretation

09:50-10:40

GÜNTHER HÖFLER (University of Graz)

Poetische Gerechtigkeit als Erwartungshorizont

10:40-11:00 Coffee Break

V) Interdisciplinary Transfer I: Literary concepts

Chair: Evelyn Höbenreich (Department of Romance Law, Ancient Legal History, and History of Private Law)

11:00-11:50

ELISABETH HOLZLEITHNER (University of Vienna)

Fictions of Lawyering

11:50-12:40

JOACHIM HARST (University of Bonn)

Hörkos: Eid, Ehe und Verbindlichkeit in der “Odyssee”

12:40-14:00 Lunch

14:00-14:50

PETER DEUTSCHMANN (University of Salzburg)

Metaphor and Allegory in Historical Drama and International Law