

YOUNG ARBITRATORS FORUM APPLICABLE SUBSTANTIVE LAW IN INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION

Zagreb, Croatia

Date: Wednesday, December 3, 2014

Venue: University of Zagreb Faculty of Law, Trg maršala Tita 14, 10000 Zagreb - Council Hall, II floor, left

Event Description

When determining and applying the applicable substantive law, state court judges and arbitrators are in very different positions. For the international arbitrator, there is no foreign law and no lex fori, as he or she has no privileged relations with any specific national legal system. This forum will feature insights from practitioners and ICC representatives on issues of applicable substantive law in international arbitration, including questions such as how to determine (i) the applicable law; (ii) the content of the applicable law; and (iii) the applicable standard and burden of proof.

The seminar will be an ideal forum for young practitioners to exchange their thoughts on international arbitration, share their experiences and to expand and enrich their network in the region

Programme

Registration

5:00 - 5:15pm

Welcome

5:15pm - 5:20pm

Keynote Address

5:20pm - 5:35pm

Applicable Law in International Arbitration

5:35pm - 7:00pm

Reception

From 7:00pm

Registration

Please register by email to office@42law.com, no later than Monday, December 1, 2014:

Keynote Speaker

Christopher Koch

Partner, Landolt & Koch (Geneva)

Moderator

Christian Aschauer

Partner, ARP (Vienna)

Panel Members

Andra Filatov

Leaua & Asociatii (Bucharest)

Živa Filipič

Counsel, ICC International Court of Arbitration (Paris)

Edin Karakaš

Associate, Žurić i Partneri (Zagreb)

Galina Zukova

Associate, White & Case (Paris)